Chinese Launch New Attacks

Fighting Reported In East Himalayas

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—The Chinese Communists have launched a massive attack on Indian troops at the east end of the Himalayas and fierce fighting is now going on, Defense Ministry spokesman said today.

The Chinese attack on Indian positions near Walong followed an Indian attack that captured some Chinese outposts, the spokesman said. After restricted fighting in one area which began Wednesday, the Red Chinese attacked on a massive scale north and west of Walong, he said.

Chinese troops are attacking in considerably superior numbers, the spokesman said.

No other action was reported on the Himalayan battle front. The Walong attack was the first major fighting since the offensive into India ground to a temporary halt three weeks ago after capture of some 2,500 square miles.

2 Men, Sons Fined For Halloween Spree

Two Salem area men and their two sons were each fined $25 and costs Thursday in Northwest County Court after being convicted of malicious destruction of property.

They were also ordered to make restitution to the property owner and were given 30-day suspended jail sentences upon good behavior. Fined by Judge Luther Donahor were Charles Elder and his son, James, and Donald Flugsan and his son, Dennis, all of RD 2. The charge was reduced from a felony to a misdemeanor.

The case stemmed from Halloween eve damage at the farm of Raymond Raber, a neighbor of the defendants. Raber testified the four men put sugar into his farm tractor gas tank, deflated two dozen tires, cut electric lines and painted obscene words on farm buildings. The Elders and Flugsans are to pay the cost of this damage, estimated at about $100.

Some Observers Say Nixon Is Not Finished In Politics

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Richard M. Nixon, the controversial man, really finished now in public life as a result of losing his race to be governor of California?

Some observers, including former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, say they doubt it.

"He's too able a man, extremely able," Eisenhower said in New York. "It's not possible to say his career is ended. Maybe he thinks so. But somebody is going to include him back into politics."

In Washington, columnist David Lawrence wrote, "Maybe Richard Nixon has nine political lives after all."

And the New York Herald Tribune quoted an unidentified associate of Nixon as saying a Republican president would name Nixon secretary of state.

In any case, the immediate aftermath of Nixon's defeat in California has been to focus tremendous attention on him, more in fact than at any time since he left the vice presidency.

First, there was Nixon's astonishing vaudeville.

Contrary to plan on the morning after the election, he appeared before about 100 reporters, and the television cameras, and said bitterly, "You won't have Nixon to kick around any longer, because, gentlemen, this is my last press conference."

Next came a television program, broadcast by ABC, entitled "The Political Obituary of Richard M. Nixon."

Alger Hiss appeared in it, expressing his views of Nixon as an investigator. Nixon played a leading role in the investigation of Hiss by the House Committee on Un-American Activities in 1948. Hiss later was convicted of perjury in denying he passed U.S. secrets to the Soviet Union. Thousands of telephone calls and several hundred telegrams deluged ABC after the program, officials of the company said.

In the succeeding days, New York newspapers published scores of letters relating to these two events. The majority appeared to be favorable to Nixon.

So today, even in political oblivion—temporary or not—Nixon is still a center of controversy. It has marked his political career ever since 1946, when he first ran for Congress.

One of Nixon's biographers, Earl Mazo, quotes him as saying on this subject:

"As to my whole outlook on being controversial—I am aware that when you take strong positions on issues, knowing that the public may not at that particular time support the positions, you run a great political risk. In the short run, it may result in your defeat. But in the long run it is the only way to build a sound party position."

Nixon became a controversial figure, to some degree, after the elections in which he defeated Jerry Voorhis for Congress and then Helen Gahagan Douglas for the Senate in 1950. But it was in the investigation of Hiss in 1948 that controversy swirled most fiercely around him.

Hiss said on the television pro-

18 Members of Bomb-Laden Ship Missing

25 Men Accounted For; Freighter Burns In Atlantic

HAMILTON, Bermuda (AP) — Rescue planes and ships searched the stormy Atlantic northeast of Bermuda today for 18 missing crewmen who abandoned the Greek freighter Captain George as flames ate their way toward a cargo of explosives.

Coast Guard messages said seven members of the 25-man crew were picked up by freighters standing by in the gale, but the other 18 were tossed into the 45-foot high waves when their lifeboat capsized. They disappeared in the darkness.

The amphibians reported the ship was still afloat late Thursday night.

The U.S. submarine Torsk took over the search from two Liberian-flag ships which picked up the seven survivors, the tanker Virginia and the freighter Trinity Navigator. The tanker and the freighter left the scene because of high seas and gale winds.

The Coast Guard cutter Mendota also was steaming toward the area.

The 18 missing crewmen were reported wearing life jackets and the water was a warm 72 degrees. But visibility was only about two miles.

As the search went on for survivors from the Captain George, another victim of the gale, the disabled 65-foot schooner Curlew capsized five miles outside Bermuda's St. George Harbor.

The six men aboard the two-master schooner were rescued by the U.S. Navy ship Compass Island which had escorted it from a point 90 miles north of Bermuda. One of the crew was reported to have suffered broken ribs. The schooner was en route from Essex, Conn., to the Virgin Islands when it was disabled early Thursday.

The Curlew and her escort were unable to enter the harbor because

Council Sets Hearing Dec. 3

Hanoverton Chief Gets Suspension

HANOVERTON — Marshal Donald Sheen, 48, was suspended for 15 days with pay Thursday night by Village Council for alleged misconduct in office.

Marshal Sheen for the past 16 years, Sheen will be given a chance to enter a plea at a hearing during Council's regular meeting Dec. 3 at 8 p.m.

Sheen was not present at last night's special session. After charges prepared by Village Solicitor Warren Bettis were read by Mayor Howard Hart, the mayor asked for a motion to suspend or retain the police chief.

The motion to suspend Sheen for 15 days with pay, effective at midnight Thursday (Nov. 15), was made by George Wilson and seconded by Councilman Joseph Wilson.

The motion passed by a 4-1 vote, with the Wilsons, Mervin McKarns and Arthur Kibler in favor and Herman Ziegler opposed. Council's sixth member, William McGranahan, is a patient in Crile Hospital in Cleveland.

During Sheen's period of suspension, he will be paid $37.50. The sum represents half of his monthly "pay," which is actually money provided by the village to Sheen for the use of his car on duty. Sheen in addition, is paid $100 a year in salary.

The chief has a fulltime job at the Ravenscroft Arsenal.

Mayor Hart, who will preside at the hearing, reports that law specifies that such a hearing must be held at a regular session of Council.

Action against Marshal Sheen stems from investigation by Bettis of a burglary at the Donald Bailey home in October and the subsequent confession in Columbus over Cuba.

Drought-Hit County Farmers Get Surplus Corn

23 Have Applied For Low-Cost Grain

"This corn will give us a real boost," dairy farmer John Ewing of RD 1, Lisbon said today after he became the first Columbiana County operator to benefit from the federal government's "disaster corn."

The young farmer was eligible for 890 bushels of the 1,920 bushels of stockpiled grain that came by rail from Toledo into Lisbon this week.

Men who know corn were surprised at the high quality of the grain being supplied to the six counties in Congressional District 18 because of poor growing weather last summer. Ewing thought the corn would be at least grade 2, although grade 3 had been expected under the Commodity Credit Corporation's plan of distribution to feed-store farmers.

Ewing was enthusiastic over the government help in padding out his feed supply to tide his 100-head of high-producing Holsteins over the winter. "I plan to grind the corn and mix it in a two to one ratio with beet pulp," he said. He works two farms totaling 370 acres on the Salineville Rd. in partnership with his father, Ray Ewing, and brother, Jim.

"We wouldn't have gone out of business, of course, if we hadn't got the surplus corn," but it sure helps us out of our first real jam," Ewing declared. By "jam" he means the far-below average hay crop he harvested because of no rain. He estimates his crop was half of normal.

Ewing was able to buy the corn

JFK Appoints Herter To Foreign Aid Post

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has selected Christian A. Herter, a secretary of state in the Eisenhower administration, to command U.S. negotiations aimed at slashing foreign trade barriers.

In choosing him Thursday, Kennedy said the 67-year-old Republican "will be directly responsible for preparing the proposed objectives and strategies for negotiations and for directing those negotiations while they are in process."

Thus the Paris-born Herter will have the key role in directing the historic trade expansion measure enacted by the last Congress—an act Kennedy called "a vital new weapon" for the cause of freedom. The trade act authorizes 50 per cent cuts in most tariffs and elimination of those that are chiefly involved in trade between the United States and the European Common Market (France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands).

Kennedy said Herter will be "one of the top policy officials of the United States government in shaping and achieving our international objectives in the commercial, trade and economic fields."

Herter, a former congressman and governor of Massachusetts who served as secretary of state from 1959 until former President Dwight D. Eisenhower left office, will report directly to the President.

The Senate will have to approve his appointment when Congress reconvenes in January.

The title of the position—which will pay up to $27,500 a year—is special representative for trade negotiations of the United States.

Herter, whose home is Millis, Mass., has been serving as chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs Personnel under sponsorship of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Herter's Appointment Was Good Political Move by JFK

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy didn't break any new ground in naming a Republican, Christian A. Herter, to a key job. He's done it before. In this case his choice should do him double good.

He picked the 67-year-old Herter of Massachusetts late Thursday to be this country's top man in negotiating the new foreign trade program.

Herter, a mild and earnest man, climaxed a life-long interest in foreign affairs by serving as secretary of state for most of President Dwight D. Eisenhower's last two years in office. He succeeded the late John Foster Dulles.

The new trade program, giving the President broad new tariff bargaining power and replacing the outdated Reciprocal Trade Act, is intended to move this country into closer economic partnership with Western Europe.

From the very start Kennedy showed he would not select aides according to their politics. One of his first acts was to put two Republicans in his Cabinet: Robert S. McNamara, defense secretary, and Douglas Dillon, Treasury secretary. (McNamara describes himself as a registered Republican who votes like an independent.)

Nevertheless, the fact that Herter has been one of the leading Republicans should help keep the congressional Republican opponents of the trade program off Kennedy's back, since Herter will be a shaper of the program.

He gave strong backing to the program when he testified earlier this year on Capitol Hill. Congress finally approved it—one of Kennedy's major achievements of 1962—but only after some House Republicans tried to scuttle it.

Republicans owe him thanks for helping to keep their party glued together in 1956 when Harold Stassen, trying to keep Vice President Richard M. Nixon from being renominated, proposed Herter as Eisenhower's running mate.

Herter refused to go along and was the one who nominated the unopposed Nixon at the convention. Then Stassen caved in so completely he seconded the nomination.

Herter, as secretary of state, didn't set any record. But no one expected him to. He inherited a foreign policy already laid down by Dulles and Eisenhower. This made his job a holding operation. He did it well, and quietly.

He could be more blunt than Dulles who always talked like a lawyer, at least in public. The best example of it came at Herter's first news conference after he became secretary in 1959.

Just a short time before he had spent six empty weeks negotiating with the Soviets at Geneva. Within a few days he was to go back to Geneva for more of the same. He was pessimistic, although he did not use that word.

A newsman pressed him, asking: If Herter had just one word to describe his feelings as he headed back to Geneva, what would it be? Herter grinned, and said: "It might be unprintable."

He has plugged continuously for closer cooperation with this country's Atlantic partners. His support of the trade program was part of this concern.

Since leaving the State Department he has been chairman of the Atlantic Council, a non-governmental group of Americans interested in closer cooperation among the Allies, and chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs personnel under the sponsorship of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

His first job after leaving Harvard was in the State Department's foreign service in Europe. After World War I he took part in European relief. He served 12 years in the Massachusetts legislature, 10 years in Congress, one term as governor of his state, and as undersecretary of state before becoming secretary.

This should be a priceless background for a man negotiating trade agreements with the nations of Europe's Common Market, which opens a new economic era in the Western world and may lead to a new political one.

Boom Predicted In Farm Real Estate 4H Clubs

By OVID A. MARTIN

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department predicted today that a boom in farm real estate values is expected to continue well into 1963, and possibly longer.

Nationally, farm real estate values are at a record high.

A report submitted to today's session of the department's annual outlook conference of farm economists said the value at the beginning of 1963 will be nearly $145 billion, almost $7 billion more than a year earlier.

Market demand for land continues to come chiefly from established farm operators seeking additional land, the department reported. This demand was said to be expected to continue into 1963.

However, the market supply of farm land continues at a low level, the report stated.

The demand for additional land exists in the face of the fact, the department, said that net returns from land at current market values continue to average lower than the interest rate on farm mortgages for most types of commercial farms.

The report made these other points:

—Farm debt is expected to rise again in 1963 as farmers seek to take advantage of new machinery and technology to increase efficiency. Ample loan funds appear in prospect.

—Interest rates on farm loans may be a little lower next year than this.

—Taxes on farm real estate in 1962 were 6 per cent high than in 1961, but tax delinquency in rural areas were reported to be negligible.

—Farm production expenses are expected to reach a record high of $27.7 billion this year and to go even higher next year.

The Students And Dr. Jones

Although Ohio law requires that state-supported universities must admit any Ohio high school graduate some of the universities—Kent State included—are making their admission requirements tougher.

These schools hope to eliminate the student not capable of completing required work before he enters college. Freshman drop-outs will be fewer, in the words of KSU President George A. Bowman.

The below-average student has found a friend, however, in Dr. Howard W. Jones, president of Youngstown University, who yesterday publicly criticized the too-prevalent elite practice of admitting only the top 10 per cent or 25 per cent senior high graduates.

What happens to the rest of the graduates worries Dr. Jones and he contends that colleges and universities have a great responsibility to these boys and girls to help them get a higher education if they want it. Youngstown U.'s policy is to admit students who have good college entrance test scores, despite where they might have finished in their particular high school class.

College studies are tough at best but we can't help but admire Dr. Jones for his concern for the average student who needs help and counseling at the moment—not a kick in the face.

It looks like the path to the Youngstown University door is going to be well-traveled.

All Freedom Lovers Arise!

The most appealing idea likely to boil up out of chaos for a long time is Henry Cabot Lodge's coalition of free nations.

He would call it "The Confederation of the Free." It would take the place of no international organizations now existing. The United Nations and various regional groups like North Atlantic Treaty Organization would remain, doing what they could do.

The coalition of free nations would be a net addition. Its membership would include only like-minded nations committed to freedom. As Mr. Lodge explains it, like-mindedness would untie their hands.

They could be an action group capable of quick action whenever freedom was threatened. Their reaction could be as prompt and unanimous as the reaction that followed the U.S. ultimatum on Russian rockets in Cuba.

IT WAS REVEALED that the free world welcomed a chance to express unanimous opinion. West Germany offered support within a matter of minutes. France responded promptly. Britain wasted no time. Latin American governments had no time to shilly-shally.

This was not possible in the United Nations, where the free world bloc must count noses before calling a showdown with the authoritarian bloc. As a former U.S. Ambassador to the United Nations, Mr. Lodge knows that the strength of the United Nations, which is all-inclusive membership, has become its weakness. The free world must prove it has the votes.

The United Nations can provide a forum for talk and a means of investigation, but it cannot act. When it acts it is in danger of creating another Congo, where it is being crushed between the disagreements of its own members.

Or it may bring about another Korean standoff, in which the Soviet Union can block settlement by giving arms aid to the losing side and create military stalemate.

MR. LODGE proposes a new organization of compatible nations—all freedom-loving. His idea is appealing, until given second thought. Only then does its weakness appear.

All nations are freedom-loving when they make application for membership in freedom-loving organizations. Every nation feels called on to prove it loves freedom? But every nation has its difficulties in this respect, including the United States.

What nations would sit on the admissions committee and which ones would become charter members? Who has the cleanest hands?

Cake of Soap And a Towel

One of Adolph Eichmann's clever contributions to genocide during the bloodiest period of wartime German's drive to exterminate Jews was a cake of soap and a towel.

Victims ticketed for the gas chamber would be handed the soap and towel, to create the illusion they were going to take a hot shower after their long ride in a closed box car.

Another Eichmann contribution was to have victims of his monstrous campaign told to remove their clothing for fumigation, then to march them to their doom naked.

The idea was to keep them from becoming agitated before their time had come to be destroyed. It was similar to the discovery that soft music played in a stockyard soothes the animals and makes them easier to handle.

It comes to mind when reading that Kennedy administration officials now are forecasting a $7.8 billion budget deficit in the fiscal year that ends next June 30. This is in contrast with a half-billion-dollar surplus talked about early this year.

At that time there was hopeful talk about a tax cut. It was pointed out that the administration was full of plans for sweeping tax reform. The general idea of the reform was that all deserving people were going to pay less and all people who should be soaked harder would get what was coming to them. It sounded wonderful.

The nation had been given a cake of soap and a towel to keep it quiet on its way to the same old gas chamber. Early next year the news will be broken: "Sorry, fellow citizens, there will be no tax cut this year. We're running in the red as usual. Leave the soap and towel at the door on your way in."

Being Prepared

The 22 Columbiana County school teachers, three of them from Salem, who recently completed the "Education for Survival" civil defense course, are to be commended for their interest in wanting to learn methods and procedures that will help the safety of their pupils in the event of any emergency.

The Boy Scout's familiar motto, "Be Prepared," applies to many situations in life.

Let's Find Out

There may be no way to synchronize the city's downtown traffic signal lights, as Police Chief Martin Lutsch contends, but we'll stick our neck out far enough to say that we believe the timing of the separate control boxes can be coordinated so that traffic can move with greater ease.

What's wrong with bringing in a traffic engineer to meet with City Council's safety committee, the mayor, the safety director and police chief to study the situation?

Any suggestion toward relieving local traffic congestion would be welcome.

And, who knows, it might be entirely possible to synchronize the lights, after all.

Cotton Corners

By Truman Twill

Dear Nephew: Long before you were interested in the shape of universal reality, I made the acquaintance of a horse called Barney.

I am indebted to Barney for much of what I think I know about the behavior of my fellow creatures on this earth.

Barney was an "expansionist."

When you put on his harness, he blew up his belly so when he let all the air out the belly band would be comfortably — and dangerously — loose.

Every time you'd take your eye off the devil he would edge away, pulling his team-mate with him and inching the wagon out of position. I saw him do this in all kinds of situations, some dangerous.

Sympathy should have gone to John, Barney's team-mate.

John was an equine equivalent of a "good guy." He always stayed hitched. He pulled his share of the load and Barney's share too. He was steady and dependable — genuine patsy of a horse.

He had no bad habits. He was friendly and cheerful, an animal of high principles. Everybody liked John. But Barney got the attention.

Barney knew how to be a nuisance. He was born for trouble — made a career of it. Whereas John always rose to an occasion, Barney sank to it.

One day a terrific thunderstorm caught all of us a half mile from the barn while we were loading hay. There was a great hustle-bustle to get the loaded wagon to the barn. Guess which horse slipped and fell which horse held the hay wagon while we hoisted the fallen fool back on his feet, then helped him and Barney get the wagon safely onto the barn floor.

Barney was a chronic problem.

Take his habit of trying to crush you if you got careless while working around him. Slowly but surely, that ungainly beast would lean your way, hoping to pin you against the side of the stall.

Or he would lift his feet as if stomping off flies and bring one of them down on your toe in an attempt to cripple you.

All these things about a horse named Barney I learned when I was about 12. There was nothing about that horse you could trust.

Whether you were putting a bit in his mouth or a crupper under his tail, he would betray you with the move you least expected, unless you knew the devil.

But when you knew him, you were prepared. That was the only way you could co-exist with Barney. You did not let him take advantage of you.

The truth is he understood this and gave you credit for it. He expected an elbow in the ribs if he leaned on you, a chop to the chin if he hung his head when you were bridling him, a kick in the ankle if he tried to ostep on you.

Barney was a lesson in universal reality — a prototype. Thanks to him, I've never found it hard to understand what it's all about when Barney types go into their act, whether they're named Hitler, Tojo, Mussolini, or Khrushchev. When you've seen one you've seen 'em all.

Say hello to all your assorted tribe for your Aunt Effie and me and we'll see you on Thanksgiving.

Federal Budget Facts Were Kept From the Public

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Why were the America people not told before the congressional election that the federal budget would show a deficit this fiscal year of an estimated $7.8 billion?

Why did President Kennedy in his message to Congress only last January make an estimate of a surplus and lead the people to believe for the last 10 months that there would be no deficit at all in the current fiscal year?

These questions are being asked because they go to the root of democratic government in contrast with a totalitarian state where the facts are manipulated and the truth is for certain intervals concealed from the people.

Certainly the reason could not have been an ordinary error in estimating the figures for the current fiscal year, which runs from July 1, 1962, to June 30, 1963. The Treasury must have known for several months that such a large discrepancy did not justify the continuing impression derived from the optimistic estimate made last January.

COULD POLITICS have been the reason? The January prediction of a federal surplus of $463 million for this fiscal year was used all through the campaign to emphasize the comparison with the big deficit of the Eisenhower administration in fiscal year 1959. This was a red figure of $12.4 billion — the largest in any peacetime year.

When, however, the $7.8 billion deficit estimated for fiscal year 1963 is added to the $6.3 billion deficit for the fiscal year 1962 — both under the Kennedy administration — it amounts to $14.1 billion for the two years. Whether it was incurred in one year or two, it's still a total deficit of huge proportions. Even without the tax cut now being promised, the 1964 deficit is expected to be in excess of $10 billion, making a total of about $24 billion in only three years. No such total of deficits has been run up in any three-year period heretofore in peacetime.

The public is entitled to know why the official figures in the current fiscal-year budget were suppressed until just after the congressional election this month.

In every year since 1956, the mid-year review has been made available much earlier than the time the estimate was given out this week. Thus, in 1956, it was published on Aug. 28. In 1957, it came out on Oct. 1. In 1958, it was issued on Sept. 11. In 1959, it was disclosed on Sept. 24.

As for 1960, the figures were released on Oct. 4. This was during the Eisenhower administration, and the people had at least a month before the election to pass judgment on the facts revealed about the fiscal policy of the administration in power. Even in 1961, when there was no election, the mid-year review was available in October.

THE EXCUSE that doubtless will be given for the delay this year is that Congress didn't adjourn until Oct. 13, but the fact is the figures could have been issued before the election if desired by the administration, particularly since the mid-year review just issued this week is an abbreviated version of those of the prior six months and is much more of a summary than a detailed review.

What the public didn't know during the election campaign was that the estimated rate of spending has risen from $92.5 billion to $93.7 billion, even though the estimated receipts were declining from $93 to $85.9 billion.

The government knew that its receipts were declining, but the Democratic party, which controlled Congress, was authorizing expenditures far above the intake.

Actually, the national debt is growing year by year because of the perennial deficits. The Democratic party has been in control of Congress for nine out of the last 11 years, and the U.S. Treasury shows a total deficit of $45.5 billion in that period. Even on a cash basis, the Treasury shows a total deficit of $29.7 billion in the fiscal years 1953 through 1963.

THE OUTSTANDING point is that, despite the decline in estimated income this year, the administration kept on spending and is promising more and more spending for the future.

A tax cut is being advocated for next year by administration economists as a means of improving the business situation. This can be offset by the ill effect of a growing deficit which will, for instance, affect adversely the American dollar abroad.

In private business, if year after year more money is spent than is taken in and there seems no prospect of turning the tide as more and more deficits are envisaged, the usual result is bankruptcy.

The federal treasury could keep on borrowing to meet deficits but at a higher and higher rate of interest. When, however, the public loses confidence in the monetary unit, prices tend to rise faster than they can be absorbed by wage increases, and a steady devaluation of the currency is the inevitable result.

The latest budget review is certainly discouraging, as the public will find it hard to believe the administration's estimates of a balanced budget or surplus when, within so brief a period as 10 months, a promised surplus of $463 million turns out to be a deficit of at least $7.8 billion — and now the outlook is for a $10-billion deficit for the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1963, even without a tax cut.

For the first time in many years, an administration has omitted to mention in its mid-year estimates the exact figure of the national debt. This evidently will be $302 billion, which is in excess of the limit imposed by existing law, and Congress doubtless will be asked in January to raise the debt limitation.

Ballot Wording Confusing

It is my belief that the voters of the State of Ohio have been "had" by the seemingly deliberate ambiguity of the wording of the recently-defeated so-called "Sunday necessities" amendment; I believe that the tremendous number of "no" votes came about in many instances through the voter's intent to say "no, I don't want the availability of these things taken from me."

I talked with many people concerning this amendment, and, while I do not mean to imply that my conversations could be construed as a "sampling," I do believe that I would have spoken to at least ONE person who felt the law should be invoked as written.

Personally, I would like to see a simple statement put on the ballot in the near future, in reasonably clear language specifying a "yes" selection and a "no" alternative. It appeared that the last try was as confusing as it could be made, and a future try SHOULD be an improvement in clarity.

Matter of Fact

If you find it difficult to cut out a dress pattern accurately, one cause of trouble might be your scissors. Inaccurate cutting often results when scissors are too heavy and long. Shears should be seven to nine inches long, scissors four to five inches. They should make slick cuts to the very tip and be of forged rather than cast steel.

"Watch the Birdie!"

Communist Party On Trial

By VICTOR RIESEL

It's not quite the final conflict, but on Dec. 11 the government of the United States will try the Communist party, U.S.A., in a federal courthouse at Washington. No man will stand in the dock. It is the party itself which will stand trial. The charge against it is distinct. The government says it is a foreign agent and must register as such.

This means that Bob Kennedy's Department of Justice will attempt to prove that the Communist party is Soviet-directed.

So the blue chips are finally down on the Red issue. This case can't be won by oratory or courtroom wizardry. The Justice Department's Internal Security Division, directed by an objective and experienced counselor, the assistant attorney general J. Walter Yeagley, must believe it has the evidence to link the American Communist apparatus to the Soviet government itself.

This could mean the final exposure of underground cells, couriers, secret communications.

WE MAY HEAR the names of those Soviet officials from whom the American Communists take direct orders.

Skilled FBI agents will go on the stand and the cry will go up that they are "paid informers."

Some of the outcries will be sincere. But most will come from those who condone the most gargantuan system of informers ever created — the Soviet block-by-block, house-by-house, secret police network from the Baltic to the Bering sea.

When all the trials and appeals are over, no one will be able to say the Communist party has not had its day — even its years — in court. The party was first indicted on Dec. 1, 1961, on 12 counts involving failure to register. Its final appeal was heard in open court before Federal Judge Edward M. Curran on Oct. 12, 1962.

Communist party attorneys John J. Abt and Joe Forer had their full say and some of it was sharply said.

BUT THE JUDGE set Dec. 11 for the trial to begin. This is more than a year after a grand jury brought in the original indictment. No judge has been assigned to the case. He will be selected by chance, depending on the availability of those on the federal bench.

The party will have the right to a jury trial. If it is convicted it can be fined $10,000 on each count.

Under the McCarran Act the party's leaders themselves must register as well as register the Communist party. They have refused and they must be tried separately.

Two men, defiant and utterly free to voice their defiance across the world over any media, have been indicted for refusing to register as Communist officials. They are Gus Hall and Ben Davis. No trial date has been set for them.

STILL OTHER tests of the law are coming — and will come for decades. The Justice Department has asked the Subversive Activities Control Board to rule that 10 persons are members of the Communist party and therefore must register as rank and files. The board has ruled on some and is moving to the West Coast to conduct hearings on others.

Each has the right to reject the board's findings. And the right to appeal the board's decision to the Supreme Court. If they lose before the high court they must stand trial. New verdicts can be appealed again right up to the Supreme Court.

Meanwhile there is no restriction on the movements or political or professional activities of those indicted on those who speak in the name of the Communist party.

ONE WHO can least complain, though he does so most loudly is the party's leading spokesman, Gus Hall. He is free to do here what he could not do for an hour inside the Soviet Union. He has called press conferences and has accused the FBI of criminality, of support for the American Nazi party, of racial and religious prejudice.

He has attacked President Kennedy, accusing him and our government of subversion and terrorism. At the same time Hall has been quoted on the Moscow radio as the partisan of Fidel Castro.

The Communist party feels no inhibitions either. It produces propaganda movies. It runs mass meetings. It uses the old cash collection techniques to raise untraceable "anonymous" funds by the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Our land may not be the Communist party leaders' image of "the workers paradise," but the party and its people do quite well. Somehow they never run out of cash, cars, and good living. Soon we'll know how the most proletarian of parties can offer up such comforts.

everyone and no one person has the right to pollute it.

If it's as bad as you say, it would not be unreasonable to ask the ladies to cut down the voltage—especially that babe who sprays.

Mother's Boy

Dear Ann: I am engaged to marry a man who is almost 50 years of age. He has never been married before and I'm beginning to see why.

Jake is scared to death of his mother and can't seem to make a decision without checking with her first to see how she will take it. Recently, I found out by accident that the home we are planning to live in is on his mother's property. Jake has been a farmer for 12 years but he can't tell me whether he has made any money. My brothers are farmers and if they didn't know the answer to a question like this the Internal Revenue Service would soon be over to see them.

He says he doesn't have any money for repairing the house or for buying furniture. I have a little money of my own and I don't mind spending it. But what has this man been doing all these years?

The more I think about the life I might have with him the more frightened I get. How does it sound to you?—HOLES IN MY HEAD

Dear Friend: Your signature, sums up the situation nicely and it also suggests you've already made up your mind. I don't know what your life is like at present, but I can't imagine it could be so bad that marriage to this bird would be an improvement.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT

Health Questions And Answers

Q—I am 55 years old. Several years ago I fell on concrete steps and injured a disk. I was in the hospital three months. Since then I have had severe pain in my back at times, especially before storms or changes in weather. I consulted another doctor who told me that my trouble was calcification of the spine and that there is no disk trouble now. He did not recommend any kind of treatment. Is my condition progressive? Would heat or any other treatment help me?

A—A search should be made for any infected teeth or other source of chronic low grade infection in your system. This would not be a cause of your arthritis but it could aggravate it.

The fact that your doctor did not advise any treatment strongly suggests that you have the form of arthritis known as osteoarthritis. This is associated with the depositing of calcium in and around the joints but it is usually not very disabling. It is progressive but at a much slower rate than rheumatoid arthritis.

Because the condition is chronic almost everything imaginable has been tried for its relief, mostly with little success.

A person with a chronic disease is often sorely tempted to try every new remedy that comes along, but this is great waste of time and money. It is better to let your doctor guide you and to stick to simple measures that have been found to be palliative even though they do not cure. Heat from an infrared lamp or an electric pad may be beneficial but care must be taken not to cause burns.

Above all, maintain your general health by proper diet, moderate exercise, adequate rest and personal cleanliness.

Q—Will the daily use of granular natural lecithin made from soybeans prevent or slow up hardening of the arteries?

A—Lecithin belongs to a group of fatty substances that contain phosphorus. Such substances, the phosphatides, are found in all living cells and are considered an essential part of the body. They are present in all meats and will neither cause nor prevent hardening of the arteries. Like all substances that can be swallowed, excessive amounts should be avoided but such amounts of lecithin tend to cause a loss of appetite or even nausea, so there is little danger of getting too much.

Q—A book was recommended to me called "The First Nine Months of Life" by Geraldine Flanagan. Where can I get this book?

A—This excellent book was published by Simon and Schuster in 1962. Check your book dealer.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Folks: Last year I wrote an article on a new way to cook roast beef, which I learned in Peking, China. We were staying at a little Chinese hotel which served the most delicious roast beef that I had ever put into my mouth. One night the Chinese cook revealed his secret.

Here it is: My name for it is "Peking Roast". It is cooked in coffee. It is terrific. It is not necessary to use an expensive cut of meat to make this recipe, and it's no trouble at all to cook. And best of all, when it's done, it will taste like the most expensive cut of beef.

For this roast you may select any cut of beef. This is one place where the most inexpensive cut may be used to great advantage. I use boiling beef, chuck or brisket. I sometimes mix two different cuts of beef in the same pot. I have found that when I do this it's even better!

I personally like boiling beef and brisket cooked together. This way... those who like all lean meat can eat the brisket, and the fat from the boiling beef adds flavor.

Take any cut of beef about 3 to 5 pounds. Use a large knife to cut slits completely through the meat. Insert slivers of garlic into the slits. Those who do not like garlic can use onions instead. Both may be used if you wish. The Chinese cook did use both; one onion sliver, and one garlic sliver, etc.

Pour one cup of vinegar over the meat and make sure it runs down into the little slits where the garlic and onion buds have been placed. Put this in your refrigerator and leave it for 24 to 48 hours.

When ready to cook, place in a big, heavy pot — iron if possible — and brown in oil until nearly burned on all sides!

Pour two cups of strong black coffee over the meat. Add two cups of water and cover. Simmer on top of the stove for four to six hours. Season with salt and pepper 20 minutes before serving time. That's all there is to it, gals.

This roast falls apart with the touch of a fork, no matter how tough your meat originally was. And the yummy black gravy that you get will put those mashed potatoes out on cloud nine. The gravy may be thickened or left as is. If you like lots of gravy, some water may be added.

Another thing, if you cook your roast too fast or the lid is not tight enough, you may need some additional water. This does not change the taste of your roast. However, don't let the roast swim as if it were a whale in the Pacific! Never add more than one cup of water at a time after the mixture has begun to boil down.

We do not usually repeat back columns, but this recipe is so delicious that you could serve it to the Queen of England if she should walk into your dining room right now.

Due to the volume of mail (compliments and requests) we just had to repeat this one.

Ladies, we do not keep back copies of this column on file. So be sure to clip this and paste it in your cookbook.

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: For those who sew and want to make perfect gathering for the little ruffles that are so pretty: do they know they can set the sewing machine for the longest stitch, loosen the tension a bit, and then sew down the ruffle to be gathered?

Look on the bottom of the stitching and you will see the thread is very loose. All you have to do then is pull the loose thread and you can make the ruffle as loose or tight as you want, and it is perfect every time.

Police Probing Into Death of Newark Man

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—David Mason, 22-year-old Newark engineer's assistant found shot to death here Tuesday, probably was slain in the front seat of his automobile, investigators say.
The car, abandoned near Steubenville and found Wednesday, was examined Thursday and officers said they found blood stains, seven empty cartridges and one spent bullet.
Mason, whose body apparently was dumped from the car in a rural area of western Columbus, had been shot six times.
Police were awaiting reports from fingerprint experts who examined other bits of evidence, including Mason's empty wallet which had been discarded in a Columbus grill.
Funeral services for the victim, a former Newark policeman, were scheduled for this afternoon in Newark.

Proceedings To Start In Ole Miss Case

OXFORD, Miss. (AP)—A federal court has ordered that criminal contempt proceedings be started against Mississippi's governor and lieutenant governor. And a county grand jury is expected to make its report on the University of Mississippi integration case today.

The grand jury has been probing the fatal shooting of two men during the Sept. 30 rioting at Ole Miss after a Negro student was placed on the campus by federal marshals.

The panel has before it an FBI report on ballistics tests of the weapons of federal officers who were targets of rioters. The FBI said in Washington Thursday its tests of 450 guns failed to turn up the weapons with which the two men were killed.

Criminal contempt action against Gov. Ross R. Barnett and Lt. Gov. Paul B. Johnson was ordered Thursday by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans.

The Justice Department said in Washington its next step in the contempt proceedings would be determined by the detailed instructions of the court order, which it has not yet received.

Barnett and Johnson have already been convicted of civil contempt although no decision has been made on penalties, for their part in attempting to block the enrollment of Negro James H. Meredith at Ole Miss.

Barnett faces the possibility of jail and daily fines of $10,000, and Johnson a daily $5,000 fine until such time as the court deems they have purged themselves.

Criminal contempt is punishment for past violations of a court order. Civil contempt is intended to force compliance with an order. In civil contempt, penalties can continue until compliance is achieved.

Nixon

gram:

"My impression of him as an investigator was that he was less interested in developing the fact objectively than in seeking ways of making a preconceived plan appear plausible."

But Rep. Gerald Ford, R-Mich., said on the same program:

"In my opinion, the American people owe a great deal to Dick Nixon for his dedication to finding out all the possible facts that the committee could find out about the Alger Hiss case and its ramifications. It was Dick Nixon's sole purpose to find out what happened and why Mr. Hiss did that or did that."

There was controversy about Nixon in his own party in 1952 when it was discovered that a group of California businessmen had put up a personal fund of $18,000 for him. Some Republican leaders thought he should resign as Gen. Eisenhower's running mate in the presidential campaign.

Nixon went on television to explain the fund and said:

"Not one cent of the $18,000 or any other money of that type ever went to me for my personal use. Every penny of it was used to pay for political expenses that I did not think should be charged to the taxpayers of the U.S."

The speech kept his place on the ticket.

After he lost the 1960 presidential election to John F. Kennedy, Nixon went out to Los Angeles, entered a law office, built a home, and ostensibly settled comfortably into private life.

Controversy pursued him even into the aftermath of the presidential election. Californians who had supported him argued that he had conducted a poor campaign, disregarded advice, made himself inaccessible, and allegedly committed other errors that cost him the presidency. Some were disenchanted with Nixon.

Nevertheless, few California political observers expected him to stay on the sidelines very long. Soon, he was campaigning for the governorship.

Will he stay on the sidelines now? Was that overwrought appearance on the morning after the election really his "last press conference?"

Murray Chotiner, who managed Nixon's first campaign and has been a close adviser ever since, said on the television program:

"I would be inclined to believe that Mr. Nixon will not run for an elected public office. However, if the Republican party should gain control of the national administration. It would appear to me that Mr. Nixon, because of his vast experience, would be able to serve the people and the country in a very high administrative post."

A comment, possibly very germane to the question of Nixon's future now, is attributed to him by Mazo in that biography—

"Nothing in politics succeeds like success, and nothing hurts more than failure."

"But it does not last in either case."

for 97.5 cents a bushel which is 32 cents below the 1962 county support price. Other farmers who can show a need for the grain are eligible, according to Earl S. Lora, manager of the Agricultural and Conservation Service office at Lisbon. Lora said 22 other farmers have applied for the grain and the majority has been approved by the committee.

The only feed mill now storing the corn for pick-up by farmers is the E. W. Dickey Co. of Lisbon, but Lora is seeking other storages so eligible farmers will not have far to travel. Cooperating feed mills are paid five cents a bushel by CCC for storing and handling the grain.

Post Office Extends Hours on Wednesdays

With a majority of the downtown stores now staying open on Wednesdays, the post office will join to provide this extra service to the public.

The postal sub-station in the Broadway Lease Drug Co. will continue to operate on a seven-day-a-week schedule and will serve the public.

Saturn Set For 3rd Test Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The Saturn superrocket, its booster stage fully fueled for the first time, was scheduled for its third test launching today.

The 162-foot, million-pound rocket, forerunner of a vehicle which will take American astronauts to the moon, was set to blast into the sky in midday under the tremendous power of eight engines pouring out 1.3 million pounds of thrust, equal to 3 million horsepower.

As on the two previous Saturn tests—both successful — only the first stage was to be fired, pushing the rocket on a brief 104-mile-high ballistic flight.

Two upper stages were loaded with 23,000 gallons of water to simulate the weight of the upper assembly on later Saturn rockets.

Four minutes and 55 seconds after launching, at peak altitude, a radio signal from the ground was to blow the Saturn apart, dumping the 95 tons of water into the frigid ionosphere to form a giant cloud of ice particles.

Plane and ground-based cameras and other equipment were to study the cloud to seek clues on atmospheric physics.

Project officials reported major goals of Saturn flight No. 3 were to further evaluate the eight first stage engines with maximum fuel, verify structural integrity of the airframe; confirm aerodynamic characteristics and check launch facilities.

The big change was the full fuel load of 375 tons of high-powered kerosene and liquid oxygen. The first two Saturns, each fueled with 310 tons, burned 3 seconds less and reached a lower peak altitude than planned for the third vehicle.

One more tests of the first stage only is planned. The second stage will be flown for the first time on test No. 5, scheduled late next year. This rocket also will be the first in the series to build up full thrust of 1.5 million pounds in the first stage.

The sixth, and a few subsequent flights, will carry early models of the Apollo moon spacecraft into orbit. The first manned Apollo earth orbit flight is set for Saturn launching No. 11.

of the storm. They were waiting for daylight when the schooner broke loose from her anchor and turned over.

Later the Coast Guard reported that the Compass Island, an experimental navigational ship, left the scene on an undisclosed "military mission" and would land the survivors—five Americans and a Briton—in New York on Nov. 21.

Robert Gervasoni of Trenton, N.J., part owner of the Curlew, said those aboard were Sam Fiorello, 33, of Yardley, Pa., the other owner; Jim O'Neil, 32, a passenger from Massachusetts; and four deckhands, David Sikill or Skillon, London, England; "Spider" Slimm and another man known as Bill, both of Bordentown, N.J., and another man from New Britain, Conn.

fenses." Some diplomats viewed Castro's warning as a new attempt to pressure the United States into agreeing to the five demands the Cuban prime minister made Oct. 28. The demands included an end to U.S. violation of Cuban air space as well as U.S. withdrawal from the Guantanamo Naval Base.

The U.S. Defense Department made plain it would continue air surveillance of Cuba as long as it was considered necessary and would take whatever measures were deemed essential to protect its fliers.

No attacks on U.S. reconnaissance planes over Cuba have been officially reported since a U2 piloted by Maj. Rudolf Anderson Jr. disappeared on Oct. 27. The Cubans later returned Anderson's body to the United States and published pictures of the wreckage of the U2. Some experts believe Anderson was shot down by a Soviet-built anti-aircraft missile.

Informants in Havana said Castro still stood by his five demands after winding up his lengthy series of talks with Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, but that he had adopted a "more flexible" position toward U.S. demands for inspection to insure compliance with the Soviet pledge to remove offensive weapons from Cuba.

The sources said Castro had agreed in principle to make his points a separate issue rather than push them in the face of the U.S. demand for on-site inspection. There was no indication, however, that Castro was showing any tendency to withdraw his opposition to foreign inspectors in Cuba.

There was no word of any agreement on U.S. demands that the Soviet Union withdraw the two dozen or so jet bombers it sent to Cuba. The United States contends they are offensive weapons capable of carrying nuclear warheads.

Chinese

Chinese around Walong had not advanced when last reports came in shortly before he talked to reporters.

The Chinese attack was triggered, he said, by a new Indian army policy of probing Red Chinese lines in an effort to keep them from consolidating their positions. This policy is also now being followed near Towang, where the other major thrust by the Chinese has penetrated into northeastern India.

The Walong thrust, 15 miles west of the Burma border, is potentially one of the most dangerous of 13 Red Chinese penetrations into India.

Walong lies in the valley of the Lohit River that forms a natural highway down through the mountains to the densely populated plains of upper Assam State.

Indian troops attacked Red Chinese positions a few miles northwest of Walong in the jumbled slopes of the lower Himalayas. A spokesman said "our troops were able to occupy the forward slopes of the Chinese position in spite of heavy enemy fire."

The Indian attacks came after four weeks of retreat. They were not in the nature of a full-scale offensive. That lies in the future, when American, British and other foreign weapons, plus increased arms production at home, have built up Indian strength.

Unbeaten Alabama Entertains Georgia Tech Saturday

Trojans Battle Navy Academy

Wisconsin Takes On Improved Illinois

By ROBERT MOORE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Saturday may well prove the day of judgment for several of the nation's college football elite. Sprinkled across the land from the South to the Midlands and fanning out to the West Coast, talented teams face the task of making an indelible impression in the mad scramble for lucrative post-season bowl invitations.

Alabama, ranked No. 1, battles an old and sometimes troublesome foe in Georgia Tech, twice beaten and once tied, at Atlanta.

Coach Bear Bryant's Crimson Tide hasn't yielded more than seven points to any opponent in carving an 8-0 record but had some anxious moments before conquering comparatively weak Vanderbilt and Houston.

An unbeaten season would assure Alabama of the Southeastern Conference crown and a Sugar Bowl invitation regardless of what happens to third-rated Mississippi, likewise unbeaten and untied.

Southern California, ranked No. 2 and only other undefeated-untied team in the Top Ten, is host to a Navy team which has shown occasional signs of brilliance.

The Trojans have assured themselves already of a tie for the conference title and are almost certain to play the Big Ten representative in the Rose Bowl come New Year's afternoon.

Mississippi collides with Tennessee at Knoxville and will be meeting a squad of Volunteers which hasn't fared too well. The Vols lost their first four games, including a 27-7 licking by Alabama, but have won their last three. If Ole Miss continues its winning ways, the Rebels are ticketed for either the Sugar or Cotton Bowl.

Fourth-rated Wisconsin, beaten three weeks ago by Ohio State, meets improving Illinois at Champaign. This one might have been regarded as a pushover for the Badgers early in the campaign, but Illinois surprised even itself Nov. 3 by upsetting Purdue and would like to salvage a little more glory by knocking off Wisconsin.

Wisconsin is in a running battle with Northwestern, No. 9, for the Rose Bowl trip even though the Badgers clobbered the Wildcats last weekend 37-6.

Unbeaten Texas, No. 5, tied by Rice, engages Texas Christian at Fort Worth and should continue its march to the Southwest Conference championship and the Cotton Bowl.

Missouri, ranked sixth and with only a tie with Minnesota to mar its record, visits Norman, Okla., for a showdown with Oklahoma. This could be the day's No. 1 game. The winner likely will take the Big Eight title and move into the Orange Bowl. Oklahoma, beaten by Notre Dame and Texas, has piled up 150 points and yielded none in its last three outings.

Arkansas, the No. 7 club, entertains Southern Methodist at Little Rock. The Razorbacks lost only to Texas 7-3 and are certain to wind up with a bowl date.

Minnesota, No. 8, is host to Purdue, a specialist at spoiling other clubs' chances. The Gophers still may win the Big Ten crown but can't go to the Rose Bowl because they played at Pasadena the past two times.

Northwestern plays Michigan State at Evanston. Tenth-ranked Louisiana State goes against Mississippi State under the lights at Jackson, Miss., Saturday night.

Elsewhere, unbeaten and untied Dartmouth can nail down the Ivy League flag by whipping Cornell at Ithaca, N.Y.; Duke can move closer to picking up Atlantic Coast Conference honors at Wake Forest, and West Virginia can remain in the Southern Conference title chase by beating The Citadel at Morgantown, W.Va.

Sport Facts

Of the 19 baseball leagues which operated the last two years, 11 showed an overall increase in attendance.

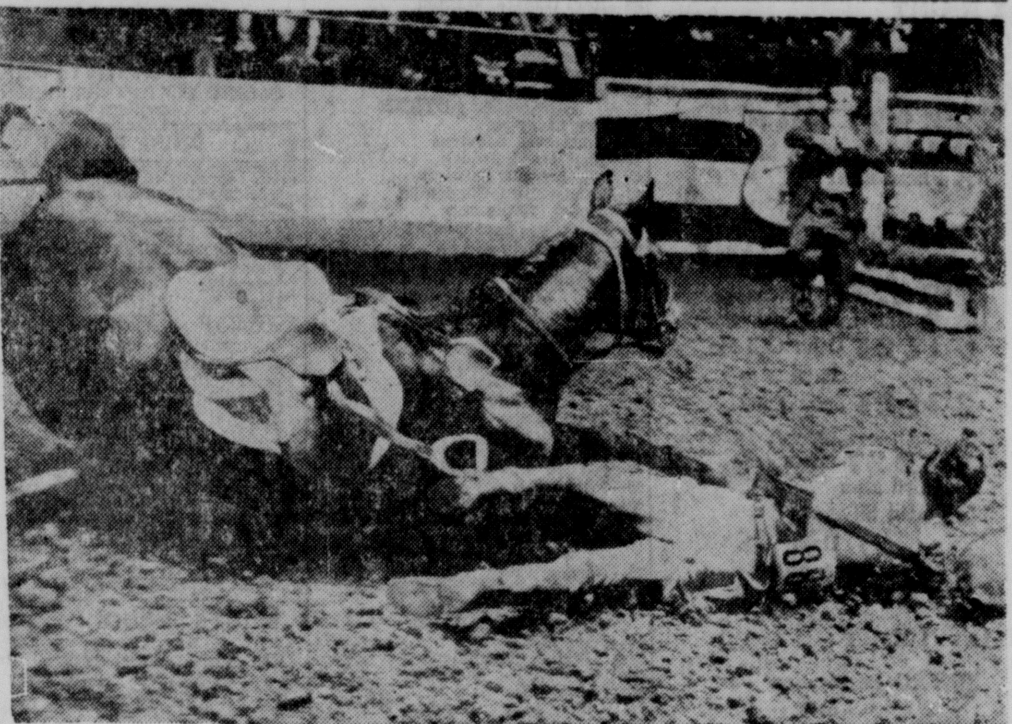

Illinois has had 13 All-Events champions in the Woman's International Bowling Congress. Ohio ranks second with nine.

"He's good enough to play defense in pro ball right now," says Coach Ben Schwartzwalder of senior right halfback Don King of Buffalo, N. Y.

Syracuse University has a father-son combination in football. Ted Dailey is the team's defensive line coach. Son Jack is a junior quarterback.

John Paul Jones' 65 Leads Mobile Open By 2 Strokes

By STAN ATKINS

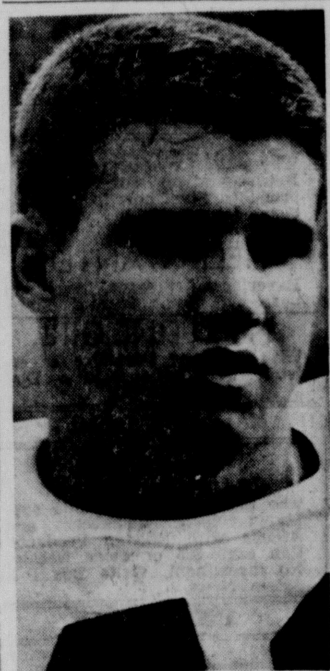

MOBILE, Ala. (AP)—John Paul Jones, who found a magic putting touch, held a two-stroke lead today as play entered the second round of the $15,000 Mobile Open Golf Tournament.

Jones, a virtual unknown on the pro touring circuit, knocked in birdie putts ranging from 1 to 40 feet in Thursday's opening round. The 31-year-old Hinsdale, Ill., assistant pro carded a 33-32—65 over the par 36-36—72, 6,800-yard Mobile Municipal course.

Jones, a teaching pro, played in a few tournaments last year. He rejoined the pro tour a week ago for the Cajun Classic at Lafayette, La., and finished in a tie for 23rd, good for $150 in winnings.

A host of veteran pros and few new faces were grouped behind Jones.

They included Tony Lema, with a 67; and George Knudson, the Canadian; Don Cherry, the Wichita Falls, Tex., singer; amateur Downing Gray of Pensacola, Fla.;

Rick Bowling Gets Kent Grid Awards

KENT—Halfback Rick Bowling of Lisbon was presented with three awards at the annual fall sports football and cross country banquet at Kent State University Wednesday night.

James Kovach of Columbiana was one of eight men to receive a cross country varsity letter.

Kent Alumni President Watson Watts presented Bowling a trophy for his selection as the "outstanding sophomore of the year."

The former Blue Devils' star was also given an award for being named the "best defensive back" by the Kent coaching staff.

Bowling was one of 35 football players to receive a varsity letter from head coach Trevor Rees during the program.

and Jim Wright of Enid, Okla., all at 68.

Defending champion Gay Brewer Jr., Jim Ferre, Jon Gustin and Sam Carmichael were at 69. The 70-stroke contingent of 13 included such as businessman-golfer Freddie Laas, Don Fairfield, Johnny Pott, Don Bisplinghoff and Tom Neipote. John Bar-num, winner of the Cajun open; Doug Sanders, Dave Ragan and Paul Harney were bunched with a dozen others at 71.

Brown Thinks New Lineman Should Help

CLEVELAND (AP) — Coach Paul Brown thinks Frank Morze, the 278-pound offensive lineman who has just joined the team, should be of immediate help to the Cleveland Browns.

"Frank played for me in the Senior Bowl and I've always liked him," said Brown. "I think he can help us now, and he also figures in long range plans. You don't come up with a fellow like this in the draft."

Morze flew here Wednesday night from San Francisco, where he had been out of action since he suffered a knee injury last summer, and he was in uniform to work out with the Browns asked waivers on Morze after he was injured, making him a free agent.

Morze was declared ready for action last week, but he refused to sign a contract which said he had to stay under 270 pounds or forfeit a $1,000 bonus.

Only 5 Ohio College Tilts Still On Tap

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Except for a five-game epilogue stretching over the next two weeks, Ohio's collegiate grid teams drop the curtain Saturday on the 1962 football drama.

All but Ohio State, Xavier, Cincinnati, Ohio University and Central State will hang up their uniforms.

The end of the play doesn't have much of a climax. Ohio State, figured as the hero at the start, has been one of the most disappointing teams in the country. Wittenberg won the Ohio Conference title and Bowling Green the Mid-American laurels a week ago.

So there isn't much left to decide except the Presidents' Conference flag, which John Carroll is favored to clinch as the Cleveland club entertains off-beaten Washington & Jefferson.

So help me, Hanna, Harry, hurry and you'll see the biggest car bargain Detroit ever dared to deliver—the Dodge Custom 880.

George, it carries the 5-year or 50,000-mile warranty. It gives you big-car luxury at small-car price.

Packers Eye Colts, Detroit Contests

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—The Green Bay Packers' bid to become the first National Football League team since 1942 to go through a regular season unbeaten gets a two-fold test within the next week, beginning Sunday in Green Bay against the Baltimore Colts.

On Thursday, Thanksgiving Day the Packers will try to carve up the Detroit Lions for a second time this season in their annual game in Detroit. But it is doubtful if either game will reach the proportions of Green Bay's 49-0 victory over Philadelphia last week, one which prompted a wit to remark:

"If the Green Bay Packers faced Red China tomorrow, they would be three touchdown favorites."

The Packers will be favored over both the Colts and Lions, as they gun for their 10th and 11th victories this season. A pair of wins would leave still three games to go for a perfect season, last achieved by the Chicago Bears' 11-0 record in 1942.

This week's picks (last week, 9 correct, 2 wrong; season, 58-34-4).

NFL

Green Bay over Baltimore—The Packers' Paul Hornung is available again and fullback Jim Taylor is hot on the trail of the rushing and scoring titles in the NFL. Colts defense has been tough, but Packers have been tougher.

New York over Philadelphia—Eagles will be on rebound from Packers' lacing, but Giants won't let up with chance for second straight Eastern title and another crack at Packers.

Pittsburgh over Washington—Steelers' big, rugged defense will make the difference, despite return to health by 'Skins Bobby Mitchell.

Detroit over Minnesota — Lions have offense back in gear now, and face woeful Viking defense. Fran Tarkenton won't find any patsies in Detroit's defense.

Chicago over Dallas—Bears' Billy Wade is on his late season spurt and Cowboys' Eddie LeBaron is hurt.

St. Louis over Cleveland—Cards clicking under Charley Johnson at quarterback while Browns in trouble with fullback Jimmy Brown having an off year.

Los Angeles over San Francisco — Rams' defense getting better and the 49ers offense getting worse. Jon Arnett, Zeke Bratkowski and Dick Bass may finally give Sware the offense he's looking for.

AFL

Boston over Houston—Pat's defense gets the job done on Oilers, whose quarterback George Blanda still is being intercepted too much.

Dallas over Denver—The Texans have good defense, too, when it counts. They also have better runners in Curtis McClinton and Abner Haynes.

Buffalo over Oakland — Bills' Cookie Gilchrist should do well against battered Raiders defense.

City Basketball Loop Begins Season Monday

Salem Tech will take on Berlin Merchants to open the City A Basketball League at the Memorial Building at 8 p.m. Monday.

In other contests Bowersock's will go against Applegates at 9 p.m.; and Old Dutch will be in a skirmish with Bud Shaffer Ford at 10 p.m.

A total of 11 teams will compete in the loop this year, with games scheduled every Monday and Wednesday.

Cassius Had Predicted Outcome Before Fight

Clay KO's Ancient Archie
In 4 For 16th Win In Row

By BOB MYERS
Associated Press Sports Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP)—Cassius Marcellus Clay, the Louisville Lip who calls the round for a knock-out and makes it come true, most assuredly must be the crown prince of the heavyweight division in boxing today.

Twenty-year-old Cassius established himself as the heir apparent to the heavyweight throne Thursday night when in four rounds—the exact round he had predicted—he knocked out a game, a gallant and a quite old and outclassed Archie Moore.

Clay is unbeaten now in 16 straight fights as a professional and there is hardly anyone left in the depleted heavyweight section to fight except the champion himself, Sonny Liston.

But even William Faversham—Clay's chief manager, or the man most prominent in the syndicate of influential Louisville businessmen who own him—conceded they are in no hurry to tangle with the omniscient Sonny.

And Moore's future?
Tears were in old Archie's eyes when he confronted newsmen in the dressing room after the fight. Was he through? Was this the end?

"I don't know. It might just be," said the oldest man in boxing, who will never see birthday No. 45 again.

There was a question for Archie. "Did the sun go down tonight?"

"Maybe no, but it was covered by a cloud. It might blow away, the cloud might," said Archie.

Archie, sitting on a rubbing table in his dressing room at the Sports Arena, thought awhile longer.

There was a glove bruise around the forehead above the left eye. Otherwise he was unmarked.

"Every morning brings a new ray of sunshine, a new ray of hope," he finally observed. "I've had cloudy nights before."

Clay started the old man out in the third round as a turn-around crowd of some 16,200 plus a national closed theater circuit audience, watched.

Clay had Archie groggy and backed onto the ropes near Clay's corner. Archie managed to last the round. But when the bell brought on the fourth—Clay's much publicized timetable for the end—it was evident that Archie was near the end of his astonishing string of years in the ring.

Perhaps it was a left hook that started the final downfall. Referee Tommy Hart later said there was no one punch, just a lot of them that smashed through Archie's tired, weakened defense.

Archie went down three times. The first two went for counts of eight. The first time left Archie almost standing on his head as he tried to regain his feet.

The second time Archie took the count on the seat of his pants, his left leg bent at the knee.

On the final trip down, the count had reached four. But the referee was paying no attention. He had already moved in to stop the match.

Herron Kills
Black Bear On Hunting Trip

Ed Herron of 1401 S. Lincoln Ave., searching for two lost men in the wilds at Whitney, Ontario, while on a hunting trip, shot and killed a 275-pound black bear recently.

The incident occurred between the Indian reservation at Algonquin Provincial Park and Hays Lake.

Herron wounded the bear with his first shot, then fired again and hit the animal between the eyes as it charged him. The bear collapsed 10 feet away from him.

The two Ontario men who were just over night, turned up the next morning.

It took a caterpillar tractor to drag the bear three miles out of the woods to Herron's row boat.

Bob Chappell of 911 Franklin St. and Ken Camplin, president of the Buffalo, N.Y., (Loblau) grocery chain, were in Herron's hunting party.

The bear hide is being processed at Bessmer, Pa., for conversion into a rug.
